Re: Master Care Back Traction / Inversion Product

Dear Karin:

I have had the opportunity to work with and utilize the Swedish Back Care System in my chiropractic clinic for over one year. We have had positive results in a variety of lower back conditions. Using the gravity traction table as an adjunct to chiropractic manipulation and other physical therapies, has given us significant results in cases of lumbar disc syndrome, sciatica, lumbar degenerative joint disease, and spinal stenosis. We have used the device on a wide range of patients including geriatrics in their 70s and young mothers-to-be.

Based on our experience, I would recommend the Master Care Back Traction System to other doctors and clinicians interested in an additional tool to help with these types of cases. The unit can be used either for passive therapy in the acute stage, with or without other modalities. As the patient improves and stabilizes, ~~active care rehabilitation exercise performed on the inversion table can be initiated~~ until weight bearing exercise is better tolerated.

I am pleased to share the positive experience my patients and I have had using the Swedish Back Care System. Thank you for making this device available.

Sincerely,

Bret A. Wilson, D.C.
